Acupuncturist - South Auckland

Join the team now. Help shape the future of holistic health across Auckland.

Free Spirit Holistic Health Services is growing - and not in a “we need another person to fill a treatment room” kind of way. There’s a much bigger vision here. Kelly is building a holistic health offering across the Auckland region, with a particular passion for making great practitioners and complementary health services more accessible throughout South Auckland.

We are looking for an Acupuncturist who would like to become part of that growth. This is a contractor opportunity with genuine flexibility around how it could work. You might be an experienced practitioner looking to add something different alongside your existing work, already have your own client base or practice, or be earlier in your career and interested in growing within a multidisciplinary health business. What matters most is that you care deeply about your clients, are confident in your modality and are genuinely interested in how acupuncture can sit alongside other approaches to health and wellbeing.

THE OPPORTUNITY

We’re looking for someone who brings strong clinical capability and confidence in their practice, while also being curious about how acupuncture can complement other approaches to health, movement, recovery and overall wellbeing. Free Spirit takes a holistic, person-centred approach to care. That means looking at the whole person rather than treating one symptom or issue in isolation, and tailoring your approach to what each individual actually needs. You’ll work independently with your clients while being part of a growing multidisciplinary environment where practitioners can share knowledge, collaborate and refer across disciplines where appropriate.

ABOUT YOU

You’ll be:

- A qualified Acupuncturist with appropriate New Zealand registration and practising requirements
- Client-focused, professional and confident working independently
- Strong in assessment, treatment planning and delivering personalised care
- Someone who builds genuine relationships with clients and takes the time to understand the broader picture
- Interested in holistic health and multidisciplinary ways of working
- Collaborative, curious and comfortable contributing ideas as the business grows

THE PRACTICAL STUFF

There is real flexibility around the structure and hours. Rather than prescribing exactly what this needs to look like, we’re focused on finding the right Acupuncturist and then working together to create an arrangement that works for both you and Free Spirit. There’s genuine opportunity to grow alongside the business and to have a voice in how the acupuncture offering develops.
